

Directive 2014/68/EUAdopted by CLAP : 26/11/2020Directive References: Annex I §3.1.2Subject: Approval of procedures and personnel for joiningQuestion:

Should the approvals of procedures and personnel for permanent joints bear the reference of the notified body or the recognised third-party organisation and, for the notified body, the reference to its identification number?

Answer:

No.

The ESR 3.1.2 does not explain the means of identification, but nevertheless a means of traceability must be put in place by the manufacturer to justify that the body which issued the approval was indeed a notified body or a recognised third-party organization, when the approval was issued.

Note: For notified bodies, it is a good practice that approvals of procedures and personnel carry the identification number.
